

translation of tongue of angels by Anne

Victoria: You have been called. Warriors, soldiers, victorious ones, creatures of light. From the north, from the south, from all over you will go shine forth. Shine forth as brilliant light ones. And you will laugh as you carry my torch as my glory goes before you. You will laugh at that which you call your enemy.