Rob on phone

The throne is here. It is time. An effectual door has opened. The millennial generation is presently in diapers. They are still in the baby stage but I am opening an effectual door to restore and catapult this generation off the floor. There will be a cry in the land as the Lion of Judah takes his stand. His roar will emanate across the land and the millennials will begun to respond like never before. This move of God will be hallmarked and/or characterized by a massive move of my healing hand. It is the pool of Bethesda that's swirling. The millennials are going to be caught off guard of the power and authority that the Lord will release through them. A new cry will emanate throughout the land. "What must I do to be saved?" I will pull many people out of the grave of confusion. Distrust and dissention. This is the season where there is a reason for the new direction that I am now releasing upon My church and the planet. The millennials are going to begun to arise and shine as I transfer the wealth of the nation to them. I will use technology to reach them and I will equip them with new ideas to rech the world. It is a new day, a dawn of a new morning. My church will arise on the ashes and will come forth out of the grave.

Paul, something about time. there is a shift coming. it is time. almost like a time signature you would see on a musical score. It is not really about chronos time but it is a time signature. Time related to vibration. A sound. It is a new sound. A new frequency. Adjustments being made in the heavenly places. It is time for the Daniel to respond to the sound of the lion of Judah's roar. It is the mighty ones. Mighty ones are being raised up. There is a train of the Lord's glory on this.
